I had to write so many note to myself to help myself find information. This code book has guideline at the begin of the chapter just like AAPC book but then they go one step further by placing the guideline with the codes so you don't have to look about at the guide lines many pages away. They also have notes about many of the disease and wonderful pictures to help you understand what you are coding for. Last year I sat with my laptop looking all this information up. I am learning while I am coding. Not all coding books are creature equal. Love this book. AAPC websites states that you can use any version of the ICD-10-CM for their test. I am glad I will be using this one when I sit for my CPC exam. Happy Studying and coding!
